Many documentaries, movies, and research papers on the Deepwater Horizon oil spill focus on the deep Gulf of Mexico and the challenge to disperse the oil and prevent it from coming into the northern Gulf of Mexico coastal habitats. But, it did.

Come see a Planet Earth documentary film on the Deepwater Horizon oil spill, several clips that will make it into the next Planet Earth documentary, and the efforts of a Coastal Waters Research Consortium to study the effects of the oil on salt marshes, its organisms, and functions.

A panel of CWC researchers (including Louisiana Universities Marine Consortium and Louisiana State University) will join the viewing.
